Homework

We began sending homework with the students this week. Homework should be an independent review of the concepts that are learned during the school day. As we continue to teach and model good citizenship skills, responsibility is something we aim to build. Please help us by reminding your child that homework is his/her responsibility. Every Monday, your child will receive his/her homework menu. The homework menu and the homework folder should be returned on Fridays.

CARES

First Grade had our first grade level morning meeting last week. Every first grader participated in a greeting, share, activity, and morning message with peers from other classes. During this morning meeting, we focused on the C in CARES which stands for Cooperation. We talked about how cooperation means working together.

Ask Your Wonder...

- how he/she can use cooperation at home and at school
- what his/her favorite math game is
- to tell you about one of his/her small moment stories that he/she is writing
